RELATIONSHIP IMPROVEMENT SITE RELAUNCHES JUST IN TIME FOR VALENTINE'S DAY

Northern California - Be A Better Partner announced their newly revamped website just in time for their biggest holiday: Valentine's Day. A special section on the site is devoted strictly to Valentine's Day ideas, news and links.

This relationship improvement plan, designed to help busy couples gain new focus & empathy, incorporates old and new technologies. In addition to their book, Be A Better Partner: A Handbook for Couples by Debbie & Paul Lamb, this organization also uses a free online calendar that provides couples with an opportunity to synchronize their calendars and receive online or text message reminders on planned couple activities and special dates.

Be A Better Partner is owned & operated by Lambs On Love, an organization devoted to relationship improvement for busy couples with fun monthly activities and hundreds of ideas. In addition to its new look & feel, Be A Better Partner also launched a new Facebook page and online advertising campaign.

The website can be found online at: www.BeABetterPartner.com

The Be A Better Partner book can be found on Amazon, Lulu, Barnes & Noble and as an e-Book and Kindle.

About Lambs On Love

Debbie and Paul Lamb, co-founders of Lambs On Love, an organization devoted to successful relationship building. They work together as a team to offer couples a step-by-step plan to help busy couples improve their relationship one fun month at a time. Monthly activities are designed to improve communication, develop understanding, and build empathy. Founded in 2006, this organization's first book, titled "Be A Better Partner" is currently available online only and has been featured in Costco Connections magazine and on numerous relationship websites.
